

INDIANA HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE GRANT PROGRAM

ANNUAL REPORT, FISCAL YEAR 2002

(Pursuant to IC 13-20-20-12)

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

IC 13-20-20-1 states that the Indiana Department of Environmental Management shall provide financial assistance to units and districts through matching grants awarded under this chapter for projects involving the collection, recycling, or disposal of household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator waste. The objectives of the Indiana Department of Environmental Management for the Household Hazardous Waste Grant Program are the following:

- 1) To provide financial support for the establishment of permanent household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator services throughout Indiana, which are available to all residents or exempt small generators in the areas served.
- 2) To support the safe and environmentally sound disposal or recycling of household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator waste.
- 3) To educate the public and exempt small generators in source reduction and pollution prevention, and the safe management and proper disposal or recycling of household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator waste.

Household Hazardous Waste Grant Program disposal assistance funding provides financial assistance to support the disposal of household hazardous waste through a licensed hazardous waste service. The Indiana Department of Environmental Management will provide disposal assistance to:

- 1) Support new household hazardous waste programs or services.
- 2) Support programs or services in need of financial assistance in order to ensure continued services.

The program provides matching grants for household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator waste reduction, collection, proper disposal, and education/promotion programs, including:

- ◆ education programs to reduce the quantity of household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator waste generated by informing the public of less hazardous and/or nontoxic substitutes for typical household hazardous products;
- ◆ reuse and product exchanges to reduce the quantity of household hazardous waste being disposed; and,
- ◆ the establishment of permanent facilities for the proper handling, storage, and disposal of household hazardous waste and conditionally exempt small quantity generator waste.

ELIGIBILITY

Solid waste management districts, counties, municipalities and townships are eligible to apply for funding from the Indiana Household Hazardous Waste Grant Program. Joint applications between two or more units of government are encouraged. Businesses, commercial operations, non-profit organizations and programs that manage farm operations are not eligible for funding.

MINIMUM PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

Grant funds may be used to start-up or provide on-going support for existing programs. Each application must include plans for effective public education and promotion. The Indiana Department of Environmental Management considers that the most effective way to support the establishment of permanent household hazardous waste or conditionally exempt small quantity generator services is to encourage the development of local sustainable programs by limiting grant eligibility to permanent collection programs. Household hazardous waste grant funds may not be used for one-day collection events (known as "tox-away days"). Permanent household hazardous waste collection programs must include the following elements:

- 1) Accept household hazardous waste from the public upon request;
- 2) Advertise service with regularly scheduled hours and has an education component, and;
- 3) Demonstrate cost efficiencies through local management and operation of collection.

FISCAL YEAR 2002 HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE GRANTS

In fiscal year 2002, the Department of Environmental Management received thirteen grant applications. A committee, consisting of representatives from the private sector, solid waste management districts, associations, not-for-profits organizations, and Office of Pollution Prevention and Technical Assistance staff reviewed the applications. Following a competitive review process, grants in the amount of $398,902 were awarded to nine projects. (See Attachment A entitled Household Hazardous Waste Grant Dollars Awarded in FY 02 and Attachment B entitled Distribution of Household Hazardous Waste Grants.)

PROJECT DESCRIPTIONS

Carmel, City of $60,000

The City of Carmel received funding assistance to make improvements to their existing household hazardous waste facility. The facility provides collection and disposal services to City of Carmel residents. Since 100% of Carmel's water is provided by wells, protection of groundwater is a high priority for the City. Carmel will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility and public education expenses. A participant match of $122,200 is pledged.

Clark County Solid Waste Management District

$27,715

Through a unique partnership with the Clark County Soil and Water District, Clark County SWMD received funding assistance to establish a permanent household hazardous waste facility. The facility will provide collection and disposal services to Clark County residents. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility and public education expenses. A participant match of $49,146 is pledged.

Hamilton County Solid Waste Management District

$24,051

Hamilton County received funding assistance for the establishment of a permanent household hazardous waste collection facility. Ongoing funding of the project will be through a cost sharing arrangement with participating communities. The facility will provide collection and disposal services to Hamilton county residents not served by the Carmel program. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility and public education expenses. A participant match of $207,493 is pledged.

Indianapolis, City of

$75,000

The City of Indianapolis received funding assistance to continue a regional cooperative arrangement for the collection of household hazardous waste from Johnson and Boone counties at Indianapolis HHW facilities. Indianapolis will establishment a third household hazardous waste collection facility to be located on the northeast side of Indianapolis to complement facilities located on the northwest and south sides of the city. The City will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. A participant match of $75,000 is pledged.

Kosciusko County Solid Waste Management District $9,500

Kosciusko County received funding assistance to continue operation of its household hazardous waste facility. The facility provides collection and disposal services to Kosciusko County residents. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the operating costs of the facility and public education expenses. A participant match of $9,500 is pledged.

LaPorte County Solid Waste Management District $47,242

LaPorte County received funding assistance to assist in the establishment of a permanent household hazardous waste collection facility. The facility will provide collection and disposal services to LaPorte county residents. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility and public education expenses. A participant match of $47,242 is pledged.

Marshall County Solid Waste Management District $50,000

Marshall County received funding assistance for the establishment of a permanent household hazardous waste collection facility. The facility will provide collection and disposal services to Marshall county residents. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility. A participant match of $328,665 is pledged.

Shelby County Solid Waste Management District $60,000

Shelby County received funding assistance for the establishment of a permanent household hazardous waste collection facility. The facility will provide collection and disposal services for Shelby county residents. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility and public education expenses. A participant match of $60,000 is pledged.

Southeastern Indiana Solid Waste District $9,400

Southeastern received funding assistance for the establishment of a permanent household hazardous waste collection facility. The facility will provide collection and disposal services for residents of Franklin, Jefferson, Scott, Switzerland, Ohio, Ripley and Jennings counties. The district will provide educational and promotional materials to educate the public regarding the proper disposal of household hazardous waste and the availability of the program. Grant funds support the establishment of the facility. A participant match of $9,400 is pledged.

UPDATE ON STATE HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE ACTIVITIES

The Mercury Awareness Program began in October of 1998 through a partnership with the Indiana Household Hazardous Waste Task Force (IHHWTF), other solid waste management districts and communities across the state. The Mercury Awareness Program provides financial assistance through a network of mercury HUBs for the recycling of collected mercury and mercury-containing products. Mercury collected by local community or solid waste management district programs is recycled through a state contractor.

The Indiana Department of Environmental Management, communities, members of the Indiana Household Hazardous Waste Task Force, and other solid waste management districts have continued their mercury collection and awareness activities. Since the program began, over 20,000 pounds of mercury and mercury-containing devices and 70,000 fluorescent lamps from schools and the public has been collected for recycling and safe disposal.

With funding from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (US EPA), the Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) and the Indiana Household Hazardous Waste Task Force (IHHWTF) assisted eighteen schools who agreed to be part of a pilot program called "Clean Sweeps." The program removes unwanted, unstable, and unused chemicals from school science laboratories. Over 2500 bottles of various chemicals were removed from these schools.

Indiana middle and high schools participating in IDEM's Mercury Reduction and Recycling Pledge Program for Schools were eligible to participate in the Clean Sweeps Program. Eighteen schools received the free inventory services and had chemicals earmarked, packed, transported, and recycled or disposed of at an average cost of less than $3,500 per school. There was no charge to the schools for this service.

IDEM chemists and voluntary compliance officers, along with the IHHWTF Project Director, visited the schools during the summers of 2001 and 2002 to go through their respective chemical stockrooms and earmark chemicals to be removed by the contractor or simply disposed of on-site. Chemicals not targeted for removal were then reorganized to help the teacher establish a more efficient storage system. Teachers were also left with information of how to do common experiments with less hazardous materials and smaller quantities while achieving the same desired educational results. Participating schools were given other logistical and maintenance-oriented suggestions, such as:

- purchasing a flammable storage cabinet
- installing smoke detectors and fire extinguishers
- consolidating chemicals and maintaining Material Safety Data Sheets
- having chemical inventories readily available

- installing lips on the shelves or obtaining doors with locking mechanisms
- ensuring that the chemical storage room has its own ventilation system

The only requirement for participation is that the school is a member of good standing in IDEM's Mercury Reduction and Recycling Pledge Program for Schools and has had all mercury and mercury-containing items removed from their school.

To support the safe handling and management household hazardous waste, IDEM provided funding from the Indiana Recycling Grant Program for solid waste management district staff to attend professional training and conferences that met IDEM requirements. District personnel were trained in the safe handling and management of household hazardous waste and the safe operation of equipment and facilities. Many district personnel were able to receive their required Occupational Safety and Health Administration training with the assistance of grant funding from the Solid Waste Management Fund.

2003 FUNDING REQUIREMENTS

The household hazardous waste grant program's goal is to reduce the improper disposal of household hazardous waste that damages infrastructure, harms individuals, and contaminates our water. Our objective is to develop a statewide infrastructure and educate residents.

The household hazardous waste grants awarded in fiscal year 2002 provided financial and technical support for household hazardous waste programs across the state. The end result is more residents have access to proper disposal alternatives and to reuse and recycling options for the hazardous waste they generate. However, many of the funded projects have a limited scope. In addition, many areas of the state have limited household hazardous waste collection services (see Attachment C entitled Household Hazardous Waste Services Map, and Attachment D entitled Household Hazardous Waste Service Providers); and continued state support is critical for the continuation for many household hazardous waste programs.

The Indiana Department of Environmental Management has received $404,540 in requests for grant funding for fiscal year 2003. $380,000 in grant funds will be made available for household hazardous waste projects in fiscal year 2003.

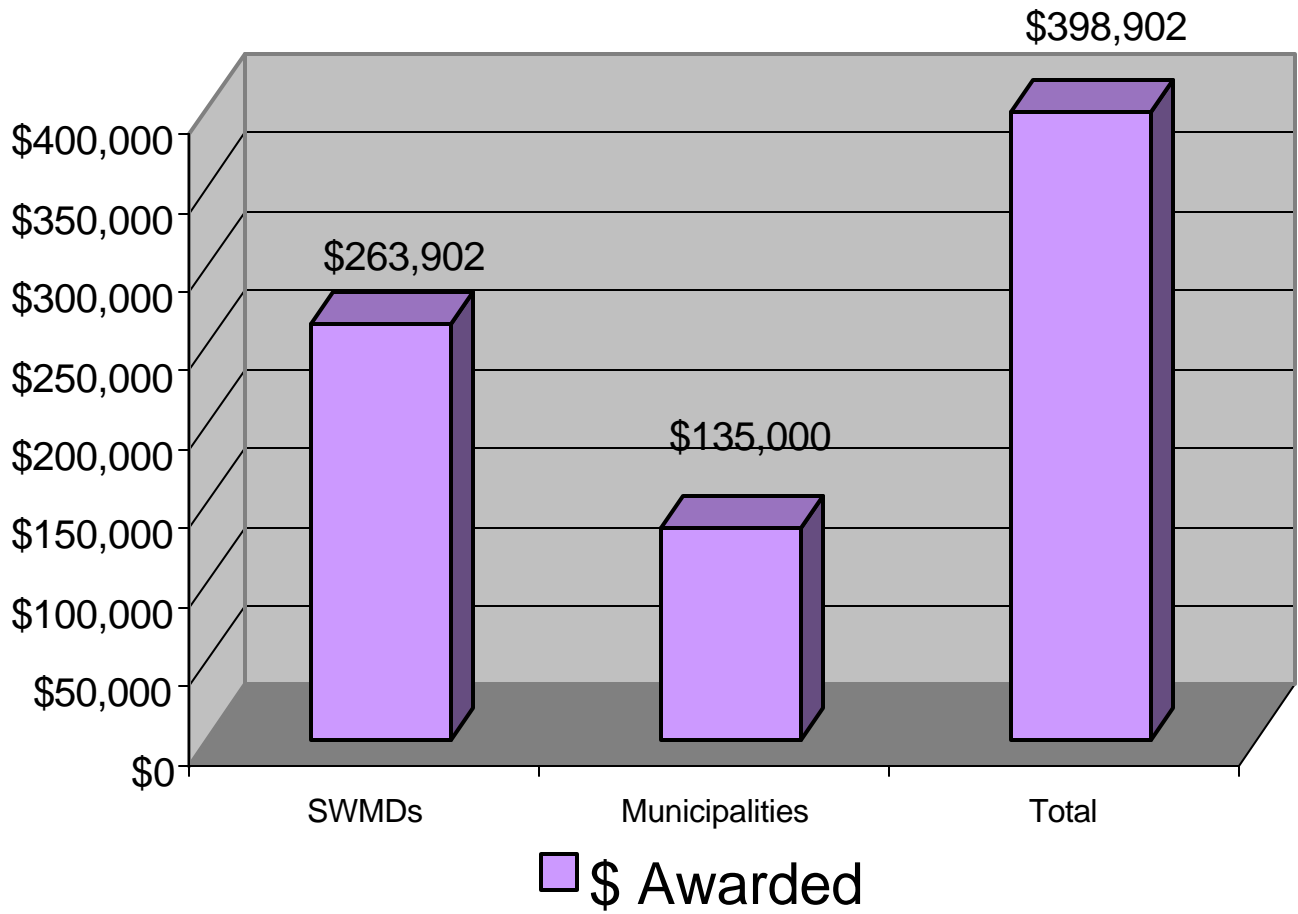

RECOMMENDATIONS:

IDEM, with input from external partners, will:

- ◆ support the development of conditionally exempt small quantity generator education and disposal services, and;
- ◆ continue to support the implementation and development of permanent household hazardous waste services.

Indiana household hazardous waste service providers

In Indiana, communities or solid waste management districts provide household hazardous waste services. Solid waste management districts were formed in the early 90's to help the State reach its goal of 50% waste reduction at disposal facilities by the year 2001. Solid waste districts provide services for solid waste planning, household hazardous waste education and disposal, recycling, market development, education programs, and technical assistance.
